UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE

Weather
Fair tonight and Friday.

Vol 10. No. 264.

Rushville, Indiana, Thursday Evening, January 15, 1914.

Single Copies, 2 Cents.

TAX NETS RUSH COUNTY $1327

Secretary of State Divides Money Received From Auto Registration and Licensing.

IS BASED ON THREE THINGS

County Pays in $1,979.83 and Fairs
as Well as Others—Brown County Comes Out.

Rush county will receive $1327.45
as its share of the money from the registration and licensing of motor cars in Indiana during the first six months that the new law regarding registration has been in effect.

L. G. Ellingham, secretary of state, has completed the official report to the auditor of state. The new law went into effect July 1, 1913 and the report covers the period to January 1, 1914. This county fared better than some and at that did not get back what it put in the state treasury. The total amount received by the state from Rush county according to the report was $1979.83
and the amount that this county will receive back for the road fund is $1327.45.

The total amount of fees received by the state in the first six months of the present auto law was $150,- 235.30 and the total expense of operating the secretary's licensing department was $31,989.72, leaving $118,345.58 to be distributed to the counties.

The expense of the first half year
of operation does not correctly indicate the operating expenses that the new department hereafter will incur.
Due to the primary expense of getting the new department of the secretary's office under way and to the fact that the total expenses of this
half of the year will be only slightly augmented throughout the ensuing year, the expense total appears larger for the last six months of the year 1913 than the expense total of 1914 will appear in relation to the total amount of receipts.

The distribution of the total amount of money received by the secretary is made by law in the following manner: One-third is to be distributed equally among the ninety-two counties; one-third of the total to be distributed pro rata
among the counties according to the number of miles of free gravel and macadam roads therein; one-third is to be distributed pro rata among the counties according to the total amount of auto revenue that is received from them by the secretary of state.

Under these three Rush county received $428.43 from the first;
$381.55 from the second and $517.47
from the third. This county accordingly received as much as others
in proportion with the exception of a few. Brown county is one of the counties that the new law helps. With only three machines in the county, Brown county paid the secretary of state only $8.01 and received in return $475.32. This same condition has existed for years with the distribution of school funds. In the case of the auto law however,
friends of the law declare that the larger counties, which have the greater number of machines ought to stand the burden, since the auto owners operate their machines over all the roads in the state.

Charles Morse of Milroy, was elected to the board of censors at the annual meeting of the Indiana Veterinary Medical Association meeting
yesterday in Indianapolis.

BONE IN HAND WAS BROKEN

X-Ray Showed That T. E. McAllister Sustained Fracture.

An X-Ray examination yesterday
of T. E. McAllister's right hand showed that a small bone was broken. Mr. McAllister sustained the injury while chief of police. He attempted to arrest Burney Adams a short time before retiring from office and in doing so was compelled to hit him. The hand was badly swollen and as it did not heal very rapidly the X-Ray was used. A small bone in the back of the hand
was found to be fractured.

ROMANCE STARTED AT ORPHANS' HOME

Culmination Yesterday by Marriage
of Glen James of Knightstown
and Nell Keaton of Morristown.

Glen M. James of Knightstown, and Miss Nell E. Keaton of Morristown, were united in marriage Wednesday morning by the Rev. Ryan, pastor of the Arlington Methodist church, at his home in that place,
they going directly there from this city, where they obtained their marriage license, says the Shelbyville
News. The marriage is the culmination of a romance that resulted from the couple working together in the Knightstown Soldier and Sailors' Orphans' Home. Rev. Ryan, the officiating clergyman, was formerly superintendent of the orphans' home
and it was their fondness for him
that led the couple to seek him at his Arlington home Wednesday to make them husband and wife. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L.
Keaton of Morristown. The newlyweds will go to housekeeping at Knightstown.

EARTHQUAKE FELT IN ITALY

Six Distinct Shocks Cause of Near Panic at Leghorn.

(By United Press.)

Leghorn, Italy, Jan. 15.—Six violent earthquake shocks early this morning sent the entire population
in their night clothes into the streets
in a panic. Even when the tremor ceased the people refused to return to their homes and camped in the streets until sunup.

The Mediterranean was greatly agitated and great waves rolled on the shore. No lives were reported lost.

JEWISH WOMEN MEET.

(By United Press.)

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 15.—A mutual exchange of new thoughts and successful plans worked out will be given by various Councils of Jewish Women from Indiana cities and towns at the regular annual reciprocity state meeting of the organizations here today. The convention will close with a luncheon tomorrow.

LOCAL MAN ELECTED.

At the annual meeting of the Indiana Hardwood Lumbermen's Association yesterday in Indianapolis,
Frank Reynolds was elected a member of the board of managers. The association members attended a banquet last night.

G. W. Alexander, a brother of W.
N. Alexander of this city, has been elected commander of the George H.
Thomas Post, G. A. R. in Indianapolis.

SERVICE GIVEN TO BIBLE STUDY

The Rev. R. W. Nairn Took no Subject Last Night But Showed the Work of the Holy Spirit.

INCREASED INTEREST SHOWN

Minister Told of Questions People
Would Have to Decide—Rev
Jamieson Tonight.

Interest in the revival meetings in progress at the United Presbyterian church continues to increase and all the meetings are well attended as are the cottage prayer meetings held
each morning.

The Rev. R. W. Nairn, who is conducting the revival, was called to Zanesville, Ohio today to conduct a funeral and will return for tomorrow's services. Tonight the pastor,
the Rev. A. W. Jamieson, will preach.

The Rev. Mr. Nairn took no text last night, but gave a Bible study on the "Work of the Holy Spirit," reading from the Bible. The service consisted largely in reading from the Bible what God says about the work of the Spirit. Attention was called to the fact that He is a person. The minister stated that the dispensation
of grace, in which we live, is a dispensation of the Spirit, and declared that He is in the church and the life of the church.

"In these meetings," said the speaker, "it is not a question how you will treat me, but how you will treat the Holy Spirit, as He works upon your minds and hearts." The Rev. Mr. Nairn read from the Bible to show that the Holy Spirit convicts
of sin; that He regenerates the soul,
the saved being "Born of the Spirit."
He pleaded with Christians to not defile the body. From Romans 8:16, which speaks of the Spirit bearing witness with our spirits that we are children of God, he spoke of where the Holy are the assurance of salvation, that Christians may and ought to have.

From John 16:13 where the Holy Spirit is spoken of as guiding God's people into all truth, he compared the Spirit to a school teacher who guided the scholar in his education.
He spoke from personal experience
of the Holy Spirit called to his remembrance the needed scripture
reference, as promised in John 14:26.
Bible texts were also presented to show that the Holy Spirit begets love for the souls seen especially in the lives of our missionaries who come to really love the unlovely heathen
among whom they live and work.

Passages were read to show how God comforts his children in sorrow
and to show that God chooses men
for his work, and plea was made that vacant congregations seek for the guidance of the Spirit rather than
the work of the church politician.
The closing appeal was that his hearers do not resist, or grieve, or quench the Holy Spirit.

The subject of this afternoon's sermon was "The Will of God" and tonight the Rev. Mr. Jamieson will talk on the subject "Why I am a Christian." The cottage prayer meetings will be held tomorrow at the following homes: Mrs. Frank Stiffler, 220 Pearl street; Mrs. Hal
Pike, North Arthur street; Mrs.
Fred Wilson, North Perkins street.

SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL.

The Rev. F. B. Stearns of this city, who is conducting a revival at Belleville, Ill., is meeting with success.
Last Sunday there were forty-three conversions and on Tuesday night
the largest attendance of the meeting
was reached.

STATE MEETINGS ARE HELD TODAY

Three Agricultural Organizations in Session at Short Course at Purdue University.

MANY ADDRESSES GIVEN

Informal Reception Given by Corn
and Live Stock Breeders—Women Quite Active.

(Special to the Daily Republican)

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 15.—Three of Indiana's leading agricultural organizations held their annual state conventions at the Farmers' Short Course at Purdue University today
and swelled the attendance to record breaking figures. The enrollment will pass the 2,000 mark before the end of the week and it represents practically every county in the state
and all lines of agricultural pursuits.
The success being achieved this week
at this big school for farmers and their families puts Indiana in the front ranks of those states that are moving forward rapidly in popular agricultural education.

The Indiana Dairy association,
The Indiana Live Stock (Breeders')
Association and the Indiana Home Economics Association, last named
being an organization of farmers'
wives and daughters all held their yearly meetings today and the sessions were merged in with the regular short course work. All three associations had the largest attendance in their history and the programs were unusually interesting and instructive. Last night there was an informal reception given by the corn growers and the live stock
breeders, and the visitors enjoyed the hospitality of these organizations and Purdue University.

The work of the women at the 4th
day of the Short Course centered
largely in the first annual convention of the Indiana Home Economics Association, a new organization composed of wives and daughters of farmers who are interested in home making and seeking to solve the many problems that present themselves in this important phase of life on the farm. Mrs. Virginia Meredith of Cambridge City, one of Indiana's best known women is president of the association. For many years her addresses at Farmers' Institutes and Short Course
have been interesting and inspiring.
Several hundred women attended today's convention.

Mrs. Meredith, in the president's address, said that home economics is a subject that has two important aspects—first, the teaching of methods and the presentation of facts
that make for better living; second,
the arousing of a spirit that will lead
to an understanding of the facts and methods. The aim of domestic science, she said, is not to present facts previously unknown, but to present known facts and principles
in their relation to living.

In the dairy department of the short course the annual meeting of the Indiana Dairy association was the principal feature. Prior to this,
however, a demonstration of farm
buttermaking was given by Purdue
experts. In order to make the farm butter proposition interesting and practical the farmer should have good equipment, makes a high class
product, market in attractive packages and work for a fancy trade.
The farm butter maker must solve the problem of sanitation and keep all conditions right to properly meet the requirements of a high grade product. If these ideas are put into practice the farm butter, as a rule

OFFICIAL KILLS HIMSELF a Suicide.

(By United Press.)

New York City, Jan. 15.—Richard Lankford, 35 years old, vice-president of the Southern railway, killed himself today in his bachelor apartments in Brooklyn.

A porter discovered him lying naked on the floor of the bathroom with the gas turned on. His fiancée was called and collapsed when told of the suicide. She could throw no light on the cause of his act.

MOYER AND TWENTY MEN ARE INDICTED

Head of Western Federation of Miners Wanted in Houghton, Mich.
Action Expected.

OUTGROWTH OF COPPER STRIKE

(By United Press.)

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 15.—President Charles H. Moyer and twenty members of the Western Federation of Miners were today indicted for conspiracy to restrain labor. The indictment by the grand jury was expected as that body has been investigating the disturbances in connection with the copper strike.

(By United Press.)

Denver, Colo., Jan. 15.—"I am not surprised in the least as we expected
the grand jury to take this action."

This was the statement of Charles Moyer in commenting on the action of the grand jury at Houghton, Mich.
"We have nothing to fear and will return and face the charges when needed."

SHIP IS THREE DAYS LATE

Grave Fear Expressed For Hamburg-American Liner.

(By United Press.)

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 15.—Grave
fears for the safety of the Hamburg-American liner Dania were expressed today. The vessel is three days overdue and because of the violent storm of the past few days it is believed the ship has strayed from its course. Numerous wireless calls have been sent from this city and from ships at sea, but there has been no reply from the Dania.

WAS THRILLING RESCUE

Passengers and Crew of Cobequid
All Safe.

(By United Press.)

Yarmouth, N. S., Jan. 15.—Captain Hawson and eleven members of the Cobequid crew were taken from the vessel at Trinity Ledge today after one of the most thrilling rescues
of the sea.

In the hotel the sixteen passengers
and eighty members of the crew are safe and warm today, although many have suffered from exposure and the nervous shock resulting from the wreck.

Albert Cotton, of near Manilla,
who sustained a broken knee cap
while playing basketball has been taken to Indianapolis by Dr. Emerson Barnum, where a specialist was consulted regarding the injury.

BREAK CAUSES PROPERTY LOSS

Section of Paper Company's Dam
Gives Way, Turning Loose Six Billion Gallons of Water.

NEAR DOBBIN WEST VIRGINIA

Railroad Employee States That Water
is Twenty Feet Deep—No Lives Believed Lost.

(By United Press.)

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 15.—
Buildings and property to the value
of one-quarter of a million dollars
were swept from their foundations shortly afternoon today when the middle section of the West Virginia
Pulp and Paper company's big dam
near Dobbin collapsed.

All the remaining water in the six hundred acres reserve rushed into Stony river, which empties into the Potomac. After the collapse of the middle section the entire right side
game way.

An operator on the Western Maryland railway fifteen miles below the dam site sent a message to the company's officials at Cumberland stating that the water was twenty feet
high. "I am going to duck, goodbye" is the way he ended his message.

So far as can be learned no lives
have been lost.

More than three billion gallons of water was held in check by dam and when it broke, whistles and telephones were used in warning the people of the valley to get to higher ground.

SLUICES HOLD WATER BACK

(By United Press.)

Elkins, W. Va., Jan. 15.—Hundreds of inhabitants of the Potomac Valley fled from their homes early today when the large concrete dam of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper company above Dobbin burst. Five hundred residents of Dobbin immediately evacuated the town but little

A New Teacher

—ADVERTISING

Advertising is becoming the national schoolmaster, as you may have observed as you scanned the columns of this and other leading newspapers.

Telephone companies who seek to improve their services
advertise ways and means for using the 'phone to best advantage.

Some of them impress on the public the advantage of courtesy—using newspaper space
actually to teach good manners. AND THEY SAY IT PAYS!

Gas companies every now
and then run interesting campaigns explaining new uses for gas—uses which save time, labor, and money!

Railroads and other great interests frequently appeal directly to the public on some great question, using the advertising columns of the newspapers.

All of this goes to make advertising a more interesting and important factor to our daily lives.

Not to read the announcements in the newspapers is to be out of date.

Rushville Drug Stores Are Giving Away a Limited Supply of the New External Vapor Treatment.

Applied Over Throat and Chest, It Relieves Cold Over Night—Croup in Fifteen Minutes.

Local druggists report a remarkable demand for the new vapor treatment for croup and cold troubles, Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Croup and Pneumonia Salve, recently introduced here from North Carolina. This treatment is in the form of a salve that is applied externally over the chest and throat. The heat of the body releases the soothing antiseptic vapors of Eucalyptol, Thymol, Menthol, Camphor, Pinus Sylvestris, etc., which are inhaled with every breath through the air passages direct to the lungs. At the same time Vick's is absorbed through the skin, taking out the soreness.

In croup cases the breathing is made easier in five minutes, and in fifteen minutes the worst cases are relieved. In cases of severe colds, hot wet towels are first applied to the chest and throat to open the pores of the skin. Follow this with a good application of Vick's and cover with a warm flannel cloth. The vapor inhaled all night long loosens the phlegm and open the air passages. The next morning the head is clear and the soreness gone from the lungs.

A number of the more enterprising druggists have made arrangements with the manufacturers by which they are allowed to give away a limited number of 25-cent packages free to their customers.

If your druggist has given away all his free packages, you can purchase a 25c, 50c or $1.00 jar on 30 days trial. With each purchase you are given a refund blank, good for your money back if you do not find Vick's the best thing you have ever tried.

Among the druggists who are giving away free packages are: F. B. Johnson & Co., T. W. Lytle and F. E. Wolcott.

Remember the supply with each druggist for free distribution is limited, so present your coupon early. These coupons are good only at your own dealer's.

COUPON NO. 5.

Good at your druggist's for one 25-cent package of Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Croup and Pneumonia Salve. If your druggist has given away all his free packages, try a 25-cent jar on 30 days' trial.

Amusements

The Princess will show the usual three pictures tonight. "The Double Chase" is the title of the first, a Lubin drama. The second is also a Lubin "Magic Melody." The last is a comedy "Archie and the Bell Boy." The wonderful two reel special that will be shown at the Princess tomorrow night is a picture of art. It is full of beautiful scenes of the great Niagara Falls. Mlle. Ideal, the diving Venus is seen in some of her wonderful diving stunts. In the story she rescues a child from drowning. The cast is made up of such well-known stars as Earle Williams and Rose Tapley.

The Portola will show an Essanay drama "Broncho Billy's Secret" for the first picture tonight. It is said to be a great western picture and has plenty of action. The second is a Selig drama entitled "The Probationer." The last is a Vitagraph drama "The King's Man." George Holt is featured in this one.

The Gem offers a big double bill tonight showing two features. The first is a three reel subject "In the Watches of the Night." Marion Leonard is shown in this picture which is said to be a dramatic story. It is the first of the Warner features showing Miss Leonard. The other is a two reel Powers showing Edwin August. It is entitled "The Stolen Identity" and is a thrilling drama. The first show starts at 6:30 o'clock.

News That Counts.
There is a great deal of news in the newspaper besides what is found in the "news columns."

The advertisements, too, have their story of successes, failures, and opportunities. The people who neglect this story are as poorly fitted to do the buying for a home, as the grocer who would never read a produce report.

Every merchant is often finding, through some error of judgment, or through seasonal conditions beyond human control, that he must turn his goods to cash.

No human mind can possibly estimate what kind of goods the public will take to. The over stock often consists of the most substantial articles, which did not sell because they were not showy enough. Notes must be paid, new goods must be put in. Low prices must be offered. The result is a profit for the wary trailer of bargains.

The life of the merchant is a long struggle to get a high range of values from importers, manufacturers, and jobbers. When he does get particularly good values, he usually feels it better policy to give his customers the benefit.

It is out of these ups and downs of the day's work that the modern advertisement is created.

There are many dealers in the produce market who spend thousands of dollars annually for telephone and telegraph messages to New York and Chicago, to get the latest figures on grain prices. They believe it worth almost any price to know the market changes a few hours or minutes before their competitors.

The buyer for the home needs similar information about purchases, and she gets it for the price of a newspaper. All these fluctuations, all the exigencies of the merchant that constitutes her opportunity, all the special finds picked up by skilful buyers and offered the public at low figures, are made known and described in the newspaper.

The information thus obtained gives you access to the most practical means for reducing the cost of living. The people who watch and follow up the bargains advertised in the newspapers are not much troubled by advancing prices.

Editorialesettes

Owing to the scarcity of fire wood in some quarters, left over Christmas gifts seem to bring a pretty good price.

Looks Like They'd Freeze.

"Purdue Indoor Track Men Out," says a newspaper headline.

Some people seem to think they can become generals down in Mexico without having held up and robbed any trains.

The life insurance companies want people to take medical examinations yearly, as nothing contributes so much to long life as knowing that you have an incurable disease.

Something to Fuss About.

Makers of phonographs are aiming to use wood instead of metal in all parts of the instrument where it is possible in order to increase the mellowness of the tone.

It would seem that the last phrase is superfluous, at least to the people across the street. Mellowness of tone! a regular vaudeville joke.

A poultry journal says that if hens are amused they will lay better. Well, the best thing we could suggest is that you buy a phonograph. The chicken coop would make a fine place for it.

It's a gay little world. Too often a club woman who has never been east of College Corner, Ohio, writes a paper on "The White Slave Traffic in New York."

No one could object to this back to the farm movement, but there is a great likelihood that people think they have some impression of farm life after they have had a few meals at the country club.

Oh for the days of the country friends who used to come to town for a visit and bring with them a couple of yards of backbone!

World Ruled by Brute Force—Reason and Conscience Subordinated.

By the Rev. Dr. JOHN A. GORDON of Boston

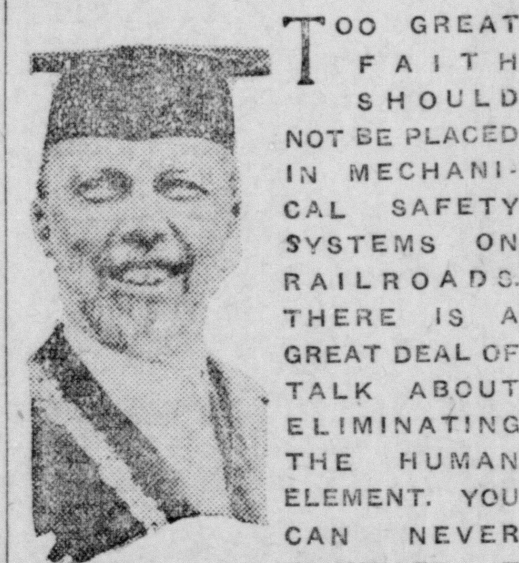

THE military spirit is rampant all over the world. The military spirit for defensive purposes is a necessity, a noble necessity, and, further, if one nation arms itself to the teeth by land and by sea it compels every other nation to do the same. Nevertheless, let us see what reliance on military power means.

IT DOESN'T MEAN THE REIGN OF REASON; IT DOESN'T MEAN THE REIGN OF CONSCIENCE; IT DOESN'T MEAN THE SOVEREIGNTY OF ENLIGHTENED SELF-INTEREST. IT MEANS IN THE LAST ANALYSIS THAT RELIANCE IS PLACED BY THE GREAT NATIONS OF THE WORLD UPON BRUTE POWER. OUT OF THIS CONCEPTION OF LIFE AS DEPENDENT FINALLY NOT UPON REASON, NOT UPON RIGHT, BUT UPON BRUTE POWER, COMES THE AMAZING INTERPRETATION OF HUMAN SOCIETY DOWNWARD INTO THE STRUGGLE OF EXISTENCE UPON THE ANIMAL LEVEL, WITH ITS PRINCIPLE OF THE SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST.

Here is the world, here are the good things in it, and there are not enough to go round. THE STRONG GET MORE, the LESS STRONG GET LESS, and the WEAK GET NONE. In the contest they are DRIVEN REMORSELESSLY TO THE WALL AND DIE WITHOUT PITY. Here is an utter contradiction of the spirit of the Christian gospel, which puts the trumpet to its lips and calls out to all the world that we are strong, ought to bear the infirmities of the weak and not live to please ourselves.

will be of good quality.

After the address of welcome by university officers President Lewis Taylor of the dairy association responded and C. B. Benjamin of Crown Point gave an address on "Growing Crops for the Dairy Herd." "The most profitable dairying," he said, "is that form in which enough crops are grown to supply all but the concentrated part of the cow's ration, and enough larger crop to more than pay for the concentrates used." Among other things he said that the silo is as necessary as the cow for economical dairy production. Oats are used to make up the cow's ration, but not as extensively as corn. Cottonseed meal is the best form of concentrated food. A ration that seems very successful is one made up of 25 to 45 pounds of silage, depending on the cow, 12 to 15 pounds of clover hay, 10 to 12 pounds of corn stover, 4 pounds of corn and cob meal, 3 pounds of peas and oats meal and 2 pounds of cottonseed.

The tenth annual meeting of the Indiana Live Stock Breeders' association was held in the new live stock judging pavilion. President W. T. McCray presided. Prof. W. W. Smith's lecture on Principles of Breeding was heard with great interest. Prof. Smith said in part: "The question is often asked, which is more important in cattle breeding, heredity or environment? The answer is, neither is more important than the other. Each one is absolutely indispensable, the one complements the other. The 'blood' or germ represents the possibilities, the plan, or the architecture for the new building, while the food supply and environment represent the bricks and mortar or the material out of which the structure is made. The hereditary material represents the plan or pattern, and the food simply the material for carrying out this plan. We have no possibility that is not inherited and we inherit nothing that is not contained in the germ cells, but to secure the strongest and largest development of any inborn possibility the environment must be favorable."

Many different phases of poultry husbandry were presented by the Short Course instruction. Prof. S. G. Phillips discussed business methods in poultry farming and said: "Management is one thing that poultry keeping demands as well as good housing, feeding etc. The laying of plans for saving labor and double cropping the land is as important as the laying of the eggs. No land should be used for poultry alone. It should be used as orchard and poultry, or for crops and poultry. This is well shown at Purdue where a young orchard and the laying flocks use the same land. Crops of corn are also raised on the land. This all cuts down expenses. Much of the farmer's problem of price can be assisted by co-operation among the producers. Egg circles have proven profitable in other places, why not in Indiana?"

On the subject of "Bush Fruits" in the horticultural section of the Short Course Mr. Oskamp today discussed berry culture in a practical way and gave directions for successful growing of this form of fruit in Indiana. Blackberries and raspberries, he said, prefer a deep, sandy loam of moderate richness and yet what might be termed a rather light soil. Goosberries and currants prefer the richer, more moisture-retaining clay soils. All the bush fruits are better adapted to a cool, moist (but never wet) location, and for this reason a northern aspect is to be preferred. The land should receive an application of barnyard manure, 10 to 20 tons per acre, in the fall and should be plowed deeply in the spring. The conservation of soil moisture is one of the most important details. Spraying is also essential.

Alfalfa growing is becoming one of Indiana's important agricultural considerations. Prof. George I. Christie in discussing this subject said that one of the chief values of alfalfa lies in its richness in protein. It furnishes an admirable food for milk, pork, beef and mutton animals. Alfalfa in digestible protein is nearly double that of red clover hay and almost equal to that most valuable of feeds for dairy cows, wheat bran.

"Weed Eradication" was Dr. J. C. Arthur's topic at the Farmers Short Course today. He said farmers must co-operate to keep weeds from spreading. The weed problem is one of the most serious now confronting agriculture. Weeds that can be suppressed by the routine of good culture include cocklebur, horseweed, ragweed, bull-thistle, Spanish needles, Buffalo-bur and wild lettuce. Weed high ways are a menace. The weeds that must be guarded against in seed used for sowing are buckhorn, dodder, bracted plantain, cockle, white top, wild mustard and wild carrot. Special methods to be employed when a field is infested include clipping, spraying and lining.

FOUR ESSENTIAL PROVISIONS

Message Will Declare Against the Interlocking Directorate; Will Favor Location of and Punishment For Individual Responsibility; Will Urge Clarification of Present Statutes and Extension of Government's Power.

Washington, Jan. 15.—An agreement practically has been reached by President Wilson and Democratic leaders of the judiciary committee of the senate and house to the anti-trust legislation to be enacted at the present session of congress. The legislation will be presented in the form of an administration measure, as was the tariff and the currency revision bills.

The anti-trust bill first will be introduced in the house with the president's approval, and every effort will be made to press it through to enactment in a comparatively short time.

Two reasons actuate the president in desiring to procure the enactment of the measure with all practicable haste. The one is that the last unsettling element in the business situation as far as congress is concerned may be removed. The other reason is that congress may adjourn early enough to allow the Democratic congressional candidates an opportunity to make thorough canvasses of their districts. The importance of the latter aspect of the situation was impressed on the president by the committee members who conferred with him.

The president first conferred with the Democratic members of the senate committee on interstate commerce, of which Senator Newlands of Nevada is the chairman. Later he saw Representative Clayton, the chairman, and Representatives Carlin, Webb and Floyd of the house judiciary committee. The president disclosed to these members the contents of his message to be delivered to congress next week, and then asked their views on the specific provisions which should be drawn to embody the recommendations which will be embodied in the message.

On the highest authority your correspondent can state that these are the four essential provisions which the administration bill will carry.

1. A prohibition of interlocking directorates of corporations among which a community of interests obtains.

2. A provision to facilitate the location of and punishment for individual responsibility for the creation of monopolies.

3. A provision to clarify and extend the section of the statutes which define monopolies.

4. A provision to create a trade commission as an auxiliary body to the department of justice for gathering information upon trade operations with respect to the anti-trust law and for observing if dissolution decrees of the courts are carried out.

The provision in regard to interlocking directorates will not confine itself to these alone, but will be extended to cover all individuals who exercise monopolistic control over combinations of business whether their names appear upon directorates or not.

TO EASE THE LOT OF
WOMEN ON THE FARM

Secretary of Agriculture Making
Some Inquiries.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Realizing that the woman on the farm is the principal person in a position to make rural life more attractive, Secretary Houston will soon ask the congress for the means and authority to enable the department of agriculture to make a more complete study of domestic conditions on the farm. The department has already done some work along this line, but the secretary desires to go deeper into the matter of helping the wives and daughters and sisters of the farmers.

Some time ago the department of agriculture addressed a circular letter to 55,000 women who live on farms throughout the United States. Answers to this letter are being received daily. This letter asked no questions, but left every woman to discuss any need that occurred to her. She was invited to take up the matter with her neighbors and make the reply that represented not merely her personal ideas of reforms, but the suggestions of the women of her community. There has not been sufficient time for a complete analysis of these answers, but from those that have so far been read it is evident that farm women wish federal help in practically every phase of home management, from the rearing and care of children to methods of having the heavy household work done by co-operative agencies.

The overwork of farm women and their fear of the ill effect of overwork on their children made up the texts of scores of these letters. The servant problem, the department of agriculture has shown, is another thing that has added to the farm housekeeper's burden.

Baukus Was Brought Back.
Gary, Ind., Jan. 15.—Anthony Baukus, former councilman, who "jumped" his bond in 1911, after he had made an alleged confession in connection with the Dean franchise bribery charges, has reached Crown Point with Sheriff Whitaker. Baukus was arrested in Los Angeles by detectives hired by his bondsmen.

The Mexican government has decided to suspend the payment of the interest on the national debt as a consequence of its failure to obtain loans in Europe.

CHANGE IN SCHOOL SYSTEM

Something Along This Line Imperatively Needed, Says Marshall.

Washington, Jan. 15.—"Five hundred thousand young people who hope to achieve success in life are being sent forth from the schools of this country annually and 400,000 of them are failing," said Vice President Marshall, addressing the council of the church boards of education in the United States, in session here. Mr. Marshall declared some change in the school system was necessary.

"The young people must be taught to understand what the republic is intended to be," he said. "It is generally believed that the distress and cause of unrest in this country is due to the preachment of the flannel-mouthed anarchist from the street corner, but it must be remembered that four out of five of the young people who come from the high schools and colleges are failures. This condition exists partially because it is impossible to teach the Bible in the public schools."

Representatives of fourteen denominations, with a constituency of sixteen million, are attending the meeting of the council.

CHAPTER XXI. A Business Proposition.

EDITH CORTLANDT'S interview with the rival candidates for the Panamanian presidency formed but a part of her plan. She next held a long conversation with Colonel Jolson, to the end that on Friday morning Rannels heard a rumor that threw him into the greatest consternation. It was to the effect that instead of his succeeding to the office of superintendent he was to retain his old post and that Colonel Jolson's brother-in-law was to supersede him. Although the word was not authoritative, it came with sufficient directness to leave him aghast. If true it was, of course, equivalent to his discharge, for it meant that he could not even continue in his former position without putting himself in a light intolerable to any man of spirit. If he did not resign voluntarily he knew that his new superior would eventually force him to do so, for Blakeley would build up an organization of his own.

Inasmuch as his assistant was concerned in his threatened calamity, Rannels made haste to lay the matter before him.

"Then this would seem to end our fine hopes, eh?" said Kirk.

"Rather!" Rannels broke out bitterly. "I've worked hard, Kirk, and I deserve promotion if anybody ever did. This other fellow is a dub—he has proven that. Why, I've forgotten more railroading than he'll ever know. Every man on the system hates him and likes me; and on top of it all I was promised the job. It's tough on the wife and the kid."

He stopped to swallow his emotion and went on:

"I gave this job the best I had in me, for I had the idea that I was doing something patriotic, something for my country. That's the way they used to talk about this canal, you know. I've put in four years of hell; I've lost sleep with the world; I've lost my business connections in the States, and I haven't saved up any money. I can't quit, and yet I'll have to, for if I'm fired it'll mean I'll have to go back there and start at the bottom again. Those people don't know anything about these blanked politics. They'll think I made a failure here in government work, and I'll have to live it down. What are you going to do?"

Kirk started. "Oh, I don't know. I was thinking about you. I haven't spent much of that lottery coin. It's in the bank, all that Allan hasn't used, and half of it is yours if you'll take it. You and Mrs. Rannels and the kid and Allan and I—one other party—will hike back home and get something else to do. What do you say?"

Rannels' voice shook as he answered: "By Jove! You're the real stuff, Anthony. I'll think it over. Who is this 'other party'?"

"My wife."

"Good Lord! You're not married?"

"No, but I'm going to be. You talk about your troubles. Now, listen to mine. I'll make you weep like a fog. Briefly he told his friend of the blow that had so suddenly fallen upon him.

"You are up against it, old man," agreed Rannels when he had heard all. "Garavel has set his heart on the presidency, and he'll pay any price to get it. It's the same all over Central America. These people are mad on politics."

"But the game isn't over. I carried the ball forty yards once for a touchdown in the last ten seconds of play, and Yale won. I had good 'interference' then, and I need it now. Somebody'll have to run ahead of me."

Rannels smiled. "I guess you can count on me. What is the plan?"

For the next half hour the two talked earnestly, their heads together, their voices low.

"I don't believe it will work, my boy," Rannels said at last. "I know these people better than you, and yet—Lord, if it does come off! Now, don't mention this rumor about Blakeley. I want to see Steve Cortlandt first."

"Cortlandt! By the way, do you happen to remember that he's to be our guest for supper tomorrow night? Kind of a joke now, trying to thank him for what he's done, isn't it?"

"Not at all. It may be our one chance of salvation; he may be the one person who can help us."

"Well," Kirk reflected, "I have a good deal to thank him for, I suppose, outside of this, and I'll go through with my part."

He proceeded at once to put his plan into execution, his first step being to rent a room at the Tivoli, taking particular care to select one on the first floor in the north wing. That evening he and Allan moved. Rannels telephoned during the evening that he had been equal to his part of the task.

so there remained nothing to do but wait for the hour of the dance.

It was considerably after dark on Saturday evening that John Weeks, American consul at Colon, received a caller who came to him direct from the Royal Mail steamer just docked. At first sight the stranger did not impress Mr. Weeks as a man of particular importance. His face was insignificant, and his pale blue eyes showed little force. His only noticeable feature was displayed when he removed his hat. Then it could be seen that a wide, white scar ran from just over his temple to a point back of his right ear.

He made his name known as Williams, which, of course, meant nothing to the consul, and while drinking one of Weeks' highballs, inquired idly about the country, the climate and the people, as if in no hurry to come to his point. He studied the fat man and when he had satisfied himself, came out openly with these words:

"I'm looking for a chap named Wellar. He landed here some time late in November."

"Friend of yours?"

"Um—m—not exactly." Mr. Williams ran a hand meditatively over the ragged scar on his scalp, as if from force of habit.

"Wellar? I never heard of him."

"He may have traveled under another name. Ever heard of a fellow called Locke?"

The consul's moist lips drew together, his red eyes gleamed watchfully. "Maybe I have, and maybe I haven't," said he. "Why do you want him?"

"I'm a detective, and I'm after Wellar, alias Locke, alias Anthony. He's wanted for embezzlement and assault and a few other things, and I'm going to take him." The indistinct Mr. Williams spoke sharply, and his pale blue eyes were suddenly hard and bright.

Weeks stared open mouthed for an instant.

"I knew he was wrong. Embezzler, eh? Well, well!"

"Eighty thousand, that's all, and he's got it on him."

"You're wrong there. He was broke when he landed. I ought to know."

"Oh, no! He came down on the Santa Cruz. I've seen the purser. He traveled under the name of Jefferson Locke. There's no mistake, and he couldn't have blown it all. No, it's sewed into his shirt, and I'm here to grab it."

Weeks whistled in amazement. "He is a shrewd one. Eighty thousand—Lord, I wish I'd known that! He's here, all right, working for the railroad and living at Panama. He's made good, too, and got some influential friends. Oh, this is great!"

"Working, hey? Clever stall! Do you see that?" Williams inclined his head for a fuller display of the disfigurement over his ear. "He hung that in me, with a bottle. I—near died!" He laughed disagreeably. "He'll go back, and he'll go back quick. How do I get to Panama?"

Weeks consulted his watch hastily. "You've missed the last train, but we'll go over together in the morning. I want to have a hand in this arrest for reasons of my own. I don't like him or his influential friends." He began to chuckle ponderously. "No; I don't like his influential friends, in particular."

While this scene was being enacted on the north side of the isthmus, Kirk Anthony over at the Tivoli hotel, was making himself ready for the ball with particular pains. Allan regarded him admiringly from many angles.

"Oh, Master h'Auntony," he exclaimed rapturously, "you are beautiful!"

"Thanks! Again thanks! Now, can you remember to do as I have told you?"

"I would die!"

"Don't say that again. I'm too nervous. Here are your instructions, once more. Keep both doors to this room locked and stand by the one to the veranda! Don't let any one in except Mr. Rannels and the man he'll bring. Don't—leave—this—spot, no matter what happens."

"I shall watch this h'apartment carefully, never fear."

"Remember, when I knock, so, let me in instantly, and keep your wits about you."

"H'Allen never fails, sar. But what is coming to pass?"

"Never mind what is coming to pass. This is going to be a big night, my boy—a very big night." Kirk strolled out into the hall and made his way to the lobby.

Already the orchestra was tuning up, the wide porches were filling with well dressed people, while a stream of coaches at the door was delivering the arrivals on the special from Colon. It was a very animated crowd, sprinkled plentifully with Spanish people—something quite unusual, by the way—while the presence of many uniforms gave the affair almost the brilliance of a military function.

Kirk wandered about through the confusion, nodding to his friends, chatting here and there, his eyes fixed anxiously upon the door.

Clifford approached and fell into conversation with him.

"Great doings, eh? Garavel is going to run for president. This is a kind of political coming out party. It looked like a fight between him and General Alfarez, but they've patched it up, and the general is going to withdraw. Garavel is to have Uncle Sam's congratulations and co-operation."

"Excuse me," Anthony saw Rannels searching the room with anxiety. He hurried toward him and inquired, breathlessly:

"Have you got him?"

"Sure. I showed him your room. He'll be on the job. Has she come?"

Kirk shook his head. "Gee! I'm nervous." He wiped his brow with a shaking hand.

"Don't weaken," Rannels encouraged. "I'm beginning to believe you'll pull it off. I told my wife all about it—thought we might need her—and she's perfectly crazy. There they are now! Go to it, old man."

Into the lobby came a mixed group, in which were Andres Garavel, his daughter, Ramon Alfarez and the Cortlandts. Kirk's face was white as he went boldly to meet them, but he did his best to smile unconcernedly. He shook hands with Edith and her husband, bowed to Gertrudis, then turned to meet her father's stare.

"Working, hey? Clever stall! Do you see that?"

"May I have a word with you, sir?"

Garavel inclined his head silently. As the others moved on he said, "This is hardly a suitable time or place, Mr. Anthony."

"Oh, I'm not going to kick up a fuss. I didn't answer your note because there was nothing to say. You still wish me to cease my attentions?"

"I do. It is her wish and mine."

"Then I shall do so, of course. If Miss Garavel is dancing tonight I would like your permission to place my name on her program."

"No!" exclaimed the banker.

"Purely to avoid comment. Every one knows I have been calling upon her, and that report of our engagement got about considerably. It would set people talking if she snubbed me. That is the only reason I came to this dance. Believe me, I'd rather have stayed away."

"Perhaps you are right. Let us have no unpleasantness and no gossip about the affair by all means. I consent, then." Conversing in a friendly manner, they followed the rest of the party.

Kirk ignored Ramon's scowl as he requested the pleasure of seeing Chiquita's program, then pretended not to notice her start of surprise. After a frightened look at her father she timidly extended the card to him, and he wrote his name upon it.

As he finished he found Mrs. Cortlandt regarding him.

"Will you dance with me?" he inquired.

"Yes. I saved the fourth and the tenth." As he filled in the allotted spaces she said in a low voice: "You are the boldest person! Did Mr. Garavel give you leave to do that or?"

"Of course. Thank you." He made his way out of the press that had gathered and toward the open air.

Rannels pounced upon him just outside.

"Well, well, quick! Did you make it?"

"Number nine."

"Good! I was gnawing my finger nails. When I'm glad that is over. Now pull yourself together and don't forget you have the first dance with Mrs. Rannels. There goes the music. I—I'm too rattled to dance."

Anthony found his friend's wife bubbling with excitement and scarcely able to contain herself.

"Oh, I'll never live through it, I know," she cried, as soon as they were out upon the floor. "How can you be so calm?"

"I'm not. I'm as panicky as you are."

"And she, poor little thing! She seems frightened to death."

"But— isn't she beautiful?"

Now and then her eyes strayed to Kirk with a look that made his blood move quicker. It boded well for the success of his plans and filled him with a fierce, hot gladness. But how the moments dragged!

General Alfarez entered the room amid a buzz of comment. Then, as he greeted his rival, Garavel, with a smile and a handshake a round of applause broke forth. The members of the commission sought them both out, and congratulations were exchanged. At last the Garavel boom was launched in earnest.

Mrs. Cortlandt expressed a desire to sit out the fourth dance.

"So your engagement to Miss Garavel is broken?" she began, when she and Kirk had seated themselves in two of the big rockers that lined the porch.

"All smashed to pieces, running gear broken, steering knuckle bent, gasoline tank punctured. I need a tow."

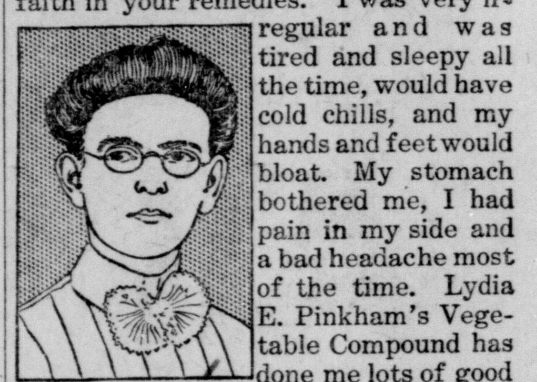

"Mr. Garavel told me not an hour ago that as soon as he explained his wishes she consented to marry Ramon without a protest."

"A refusal would have meant the death of the old man's chances, I presume. She acted quite dutifully."

WOMAN IN BAD CONDITION

Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Montpelier, Vt. — "We have great faith in your remedies. I was very irregular and was tired and sleepy all the time, would have cold chills, and my hands and feet would blot. My stomach bothered me, I had pain in my side and a bad headache most of the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me lots of good and I now feel fine. I am regular, my stomach is better and my pains have all left me. You can use my name if you like. I am proud of what your remedies have done for me." — Mrs. MARY GAUTHIER, 21 Ridge St., Montpelier, Vt.

An Honest Dependable Medicine
It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person, that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for nearly forty years, and to-day hold a record for thousands upon thousands of actual cures, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, without possessing great virtue and actual worth. Such medicines must be looked upon and termed both standard and dependable by every thinking person.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Vienna, Jan. 15.—Archduke Charles Francis Joseph and his wife, who was Princess Kita De Bourbon De Parme, are defying imperial etiquette by pushing the baby carriage in which their latest child takes her outings.

VILLA STRENGTHENING HIS ARMY AT JUAREZ

Arming Recruits With the Spoils of Battle.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 15.—Pancho Villa is to increase his army by 10,000. He declares the recent capture of arms at Ojinaga, together with arms and ammunition he has previously taken from the federals, will enable him to fully arm and equip that many men, and recruiting has been commenced in Juarez.

The United States army and Red Cross officers are making preparations for the reception of 4,000 Mexican refugees, federal soldiers, when they arrive from Presidio. The quartermaster's department is wiring to St. Louis and other quartermaster depots for tentage, bedding and other supplies, as there is not sufficient in the local depot to supply the refugee colony. The quartermaster's depot here is sending rations to feed the refugees daily. Food and water have been distributed along the seventy miles of road from Presidio to Marfa for the feeding of the federals as they march overland. An effort will be made to transport the women and children in wagons and ambulances, though this will be the most difficult part of the task.

There are not enough wagons and carriages in the Big Bend country to haul them. The wounded will remain in Presidio until all of the soldiers arrive at Fort Bliss. All federals are being vaccinated before being allowed to leave Presidio.

At Fort Bliss everything is in readiness for the reception of the refugees. The ground is piped with water mains, cook tents are up and the ground is cleared.

NOT ANXIOUS TO STOP WORK

Miners Will Endeavor to Continue Operations Pending Negotiations of New Contracts.

AGREEMENT EXPIRES MAR. 31

Wages, it is Said Convention Operators Preparing to Present Proposal For Cutting Jan. 20.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Jan. 15.—United Mine Workers' representatives and operators from the Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Western Pennsylvania coal fields met here today to consider the question of continuing work in the mines pending the negotiation of a new contract. The meeting will also fix the time and place for the interstate joint conference.

At the biennial convention of the United Mine Workers in this city beginning next Tuesday, a wage scale will be adopted for presentation to the interstate joint conference. The present agreement expires March 31. Both sides are anxious to eliminate any suspension of work.

The Illinois delegation was prepared to urge a raising of the conditions of mine work in the other states until they will equal those in Illinois. Secretary Duncan McDonald was spokesman, and was backed by other state officials. A mine-run regulation, a shot-firers' law and fire fighting and safety appliances will be sought for the eastern states. The indication was that more stress would be placed by the union men on these points than on an increase in wages.

The operators, on the other hand, were expected to present a proposal for cutting wages. How seriously this will be meant—whether they will seek strongly to put it into effect or will try to trade it off for concessions from the miners—remained to be seen.

The proposals as framed today will be carried up to the international miners' convention, January 20.

WILL EXHIBIT BONES AT TRIAL

Keep in Wash Boiler in Cell at Richmond Jail Awaiting Trial of John Snyder.

MURDER OCCURRED IN 1910

(By United Press.)

Richmond, Ind., Jan. 15.—Bones of William Henry Dayton, murdered with a hatchet in September, 1910, contained in a wash boiler in a cell in the woman's ward of the local jail, have thrown several women into hysterics. The bones are kept because they will be made an exhibit in the trial of John Snyder, a fugitive, who escaped twelve hours prior to the widow Dayton learning that her paramour killed her husband. She kept the fact a secret until December, 1912, when the bones were discovered in lime deposited in the basement of the Dayton residence. Snyder left a written confession with Mrs. Dayton and it was almost a year, she says, before she opened the envelope and read the confession.

INDIANAPOLIS TEAM WON

Defeated Milroy Eurekas Last Night 34 to 27.

The Boy's club team of Indianapolis defeated the Milroy Eurekas last night 34 to 27. The game was hard fought from start to finish. The Boy's club team was aided by two players from the Detch Special team. The first half ended 13 to 7 in favor of the visitors. Harcourt brothers and Morris were the stars for the Milroy team. The Carthage Independent team will be the attraction at Milroy Friday night, meeting the Eurekas.

CUTS LOVE, HONOR AND OBEY STUFF

Marrying Squire Uses No Frills in His Ceremony and Knot Tying is Soon Over.

HE LIVES IN TERRE HAUTE

(By United Press.)

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 15.—Marrying squires, picturesque characters of homely speech and dress, do not include any of that love, honor and obey stuff in tying the knot in this city.

"Mister, do you take this woman you hold by the right hand to be your lawful and wedded wife?" said Justice Martin Beal in conducting a "hitchin'" here.

The bridegroom answered "Yes." "Miss, do you take this man you hold to be your lawful and wedded husband?" he asked the bride. Following her affirmative reply Justice Beal said:

"Then by the power given me by the state of Indiana, I now pronounce you man and wife. What God hath joined together, let no man put asunder."

And it was over, all except for the justice's fee.

EMPLOYEES MAY BE LIKE THOSE HERE

Indianapolis Depending on Light Company to Supply Funds For Pay Roll February 1.

CLAIMS $25,000 IS COMING

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Jan. 15.—Five years ago the city paid the Indianapolis Light and Heat company $25,000 in connection with litigation arising from track elevation proceedings. Today the city wants to get the money back and although the supreme court ordered the money returned C. C. Perry, president of the company is withholding payment.

Legal questions are yet involved, he states. The city threatens to refuse to pay for street lighting if the company refuses to repay the $25,000. But the company may then refuse to pay its franchise for 1913, which amounts to $45,000. The company pays the city 5 per cent. of its gross receipts. The city controller is figuring on using this money in meeting the pay roll February 1, and should the company refuse to pay the city employees will be in a fix.

PROVES WOMEN LIVE LONGEST

Figures Made Public by Department of Commerce Show They Die at More Advanced Age.

MORE MEN THAN WOMEN

Between Seventy and Eighty Males Die Much Faster and After Eighty Females Lead.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 15.—White women live to and die at more advanced ages than white men, is proved by figures published today by the Department of Commerce. Until the age of eighty year more deaths of male members of the race are recorded. This is accounted for by the fact that there are more men than women.

Conceding that numbers of both sexes are about even at the age of seventy, a great number of the surviving men die during the next decade, after which the mortality rate for women leads.

There were 780 women over 95 years old who died during the year of 1910, and only 534 men of the same age died; 246 people over 100 years old died during the year, and of this number 149 were women. These figures would seem to prove that the older women die faster than the men, but actually a great many women live to greater old age than men, hence the greater mortality figure in the advanced ages.

About the same proportions hold good among the colored races in this country—negroes, Mongolians, Malays, and Indians. Although comprising about only one seventeenth of the population of the country, a more than proportionate number of deaths occur at advanced ages 126 living to be over 100 years old. Of this number ninety-three were women, and thirty-three men.

ATROCITIES IN MACEDONIA.

(By United Press.)

Salonica, Jan. 15.—Terrible tales of outrages in Macedonia are being told here by fugitives from Kossovo. In the neighborhood of Prizrend, they declare a number of villagers were compelled to dig their own graves before being massacred. Near Struga 19 Albanians were strangled with a telegraph wire, and in several villages the inhabitants were locked in burning houses by the Servians to save the trouble of burial.

BEBOUT PLAYS STAR GAME

Helps Dental College Win From Indiana Central.

Verl Bebout, a former local high school basketball star, helped the Indiana Dental College team defeat the Indiana Central five last night on the Marion club floor in Indianapolis. Bebout played in his old time form and scored four field goals. The final score was 36 to 17. Bebout proved a dark horse as he had only been out to practice four times. Heze Clark is coaching the Dental College team. While in school here Bebout played center and was considered one of the best in the state. He is playing forward in the college team.

HIGH SCHOOLS WILL MEET

Representatives Will Assemble in Bloomington in May.

(By United Press.)

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 15.—A state high school discussion by representatives of the high schools of each Congressional District will be held here in May under the direction of the Public Speaking Department of Indiana University. The discussion is a feature of the extension work in Civics instituted this year under the direction of Professor R. F. Lockridge.

"The New Constitution for Indiana" will be the subject for the high school meeting. The discussion is the outcome of an organization formed during the meetings of the State Teachers Association in Indianapolis during the holidays, which is known as the State High School Debating League.

The combination sale held this afternoon at the fair grounds attracted a large crowd.

Our Greatest Desire Is to Please You

Your confidence is the basis of our success. We want men, women and children to come to our store knowing full well that all our goods are marked in plain figures, and most reasonable prices, and that anyone can buy safely and surely. We want you to know that every purchase made here is properly guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction and that we rate the good will of the people higher than we do their money. Our guarantee makes it needless for one to be particularly careful in your purchases for we do not consider a sale made until the customer is confident of being satisfied.

The confidence of the people is our chief capital. Our goods and our money is secondary. Every day and all day except Sunday we wish to prove that this store is the ideal trading place of Rushville and Rush County.

We will not make a statement about a price or a description of an article that will not bear the strongest scrutiny. Apply any test you please, sift, analyze, compare and the result will sustain each claim we make.

Our policy of sticking to real facts will keep us on the high road to success. We will treat all customers fairly and hedge them in with a guarantee that is as liberal as a guarantee can be made. READ IT: Whereas, it is our aim to have all goods absolutely correct in quality and style and our prices as low, and in many instances lower, than others charge for the same goods; Therefore we hereby guarantee every item we sell to be exactly as represented. We will send samples for your inspection, or fill orders with the distinct agreement, not merely an agreement, but a binding agreement that all items must measure up to your entire satisfaction or all articles may be returned for a cheerful exchange or your money refunded.

This store will strive at all times to render its patrons the very best service possible. Our salespeople are competent, courteous and willing to give everyone the best of attention. We have conveniences and places of rest for the ladies and cordially invite you to feel at home here—make our store your headquarters whether you are one of our customers or not.
